

Curing chambers for the concrete block industry

Which version – special galvanised steel or aluminium?

Both are the right answer. We supply both and they have much in common, such as: The same basic set-up – the officially tested and approved snap-in connections make for rapid, safe assembly, which can not be dislodged. Additional stabilisation supports are not necessary. Long service life due to aluminium profiles or special galvanisation of steel profiles. HS support profile with unending board guides and centring.

The efficient snap-in connection – precision in steel or aluminium!

Interested in special equipment such as air circulation system, chamber insulation or rolling gates? We can supply the appropriate system solution. Call on us at any time for professional and competent advice!

Restructuring of the Masa Group strengthens presence on the Asian market

With an eye to future challenges, the Masa Group has realigned itself in order to strengthen its activities in particular in the Asian region.

Ronny Laux, who was already responsible for Masa in the Asian region as sales director, is also joining the board of directors of Masa Tianjin with immediate effect along with Augustin von der Lühe. In connection with this there have already been initial talks with the Chinese government at the international Canton trade fair in Guangzhou (China Import & Export Fair), when the Chinese Prime Minister Wen Jiabao enquired about current developments, products and technologies at the Masa trade fair booth.

Responsibilities at the headquarters of Masa GmbH have also been redistributed, as Karl-Werner Kohns has resigned from the board of directors and is leaving the Masa group. Alongside the managing director of many years, Rolf Ovesiek, Frank Reschke will retain responsibility for the sales division as a member of the board and Stefan Haneberg will oversee the commercial sector. ■
