New production to serve rising customer demands

In November 2015, Nordimpianti System from Italy took their new, additional production hall into operation that will increase their production capability by 30%. With nearly 6.000m² production capacity in total, the company is looking forward to serve the rising customer demand from all over the world.

Since 2011, especially the international activities have grown significantly at Nordimpianti, also thanks to their worldwide active Representatives. In 2013 they realized that their existing production facilities would not be capable for the upcoming projects, and in 2014 they started with the foundation works of their new hall. The new hall is 80 m long and 35 m wide. Nordimpianti created a new service center with offices dedicated to customer follow up. A special spare parts stocking area is providing 3.500 spare parts to very efficiently serve the customers.

In autumn 2014, foundation works began and at the end of September 2015, Gian Piero Gagliardi and his father Nunzio Gagliardi were proudly presenting the new facilities during a visit of about 25 precast producers from all over the world.
