Hess Group expands management team with Ralph Quellmalz

Effective July 1, 2025, Ralph Quellmalz will strengthen the management team of Hess Group GmbH and assume responsibility for all commercial areas. Together with the existing leadership team, he will actively shape the company's further development - with a focus on strategic management, financial transparency, and economic stability..

Ralph Quellmalz has extensive experience as a CFO at the executive level in various internationally active, medium-sized industrial companies in the machinery and plant engineering sector, with a special focus on project business.

His professional career is characterized by successfully managing corporate transformation processes - particularly in the areas of organizational development, reporting, risk, and financial management. He has a proven ability to navigate complex structures and establish practical, effective solutions.

"I am very much looking forward to this new role at HESS Group - a company with strong roots, a clear direction, and a dedicated team. I am convinced that the future emerges where strategy meets collaboration," says Quellmalz.

Hess Group GmbH is a leading provider of machinery and plants for concrete block and paver production. As part of the internationally operating Topwerk Group, the company delivers technological solutions to customers worldwide - with a clear focus on quality, innovation, and customer proximity.

"With Ralph Quellmalz, we are gaining an experienced executive with comprehensive financial expertise. He brings the right balance of clarity, experience, and entrepreneurial thinking to take the next steps in our development together with us," says Oliver Rauter, Managing Director of Hess Group GmbH.

With this addition to the management team, Hess Group is further strengthening its position to meet the demands of a dynamic market - with clear direction, strong leadership, and a focus on sustainable growth. ■
